

LATITUDE Connectivity Commitment

Boston Scientific is committed to enabling patients with compatible devices to be followed on the LATITUDE NXT Remote Patient Management system. Included with each Communicator is a phone cord which can be used to connect the Communicator to the LATITUDE system via the compatible analog and digital phone lines in many US homes. This includes phone lines provided by cable companies.

Patients without a compatible home phone line will need additional equipment to connect via the internet or a cellular network. If a patient needs this additional equipment, they are encouraged to contact Boston Scientific Patient Services to discuss their connectivity options.
