RoadRunner

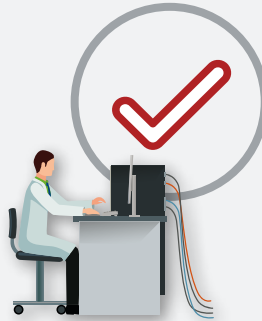

Powering Stent Innovation

AGILE

Boston Scientific has created a dedicated development center to respond to physician's needs for rapid evolution of stent designs.¹

PROFESSIONAL

Leveraging 25 years of stent expertise, the RoadRunner team works to the highest quality standards.

COLLABORATIVE

By working with physicians and adopting an innovative approach to refinements and enhancements, we can develop more products to help more patients.

¹ Regulatory activities will be completed prior to commercialisation.

The RoadRunner team is a small, multinational, cross-functional team operating as a start-up company within Boston Scientific and based in Galway in Ireland.

Having identified a need, the RoadRunner team works with key physicians throughout the process to bring the right product to market.¹

“Innovation goes beyond technology. It’s about collaborating with our customers in a new way so we are getting the feedback we need and making decisions and adjustments in real time.”

Gary Jordan

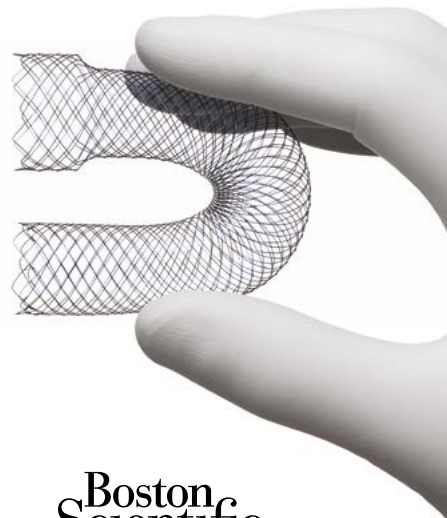

Director of Research and Development

RoadRunner
Powering Stent Innovation

Boston Scientific's biliary, colonic, duodenal and esophageal self-expanding metal stents are recognized for supporting procedural excellence worldwide.

New WallFlex™ Soft Colonic and Duodenal Stents, the latest stents from RoadRunner, will be available in 2017. Stent features include excellent flexibility and a 9 French delivery system.²
