Choosing to Receive a Penile Implant is an Important Decision

Cost Shouldn't Stand in Your Way

If you and your doctor have determined that a penile implant is the right solution for you, but you're unable to meet the out-of-pocket expenses associated with the procedure, AMS may be able to help.

The Co-Pay Assistance Program is designed to provide financial assistance for patients who have difficulty paying the out-of-pocket costs associated with receiving an AMS penile implant. It assists eligible patients with co-pay and/or deductible amounts still due after insurance payment.
